

Software & Development

General

Peter Dann endeavours to be at the forefront of research and development. The work that is undertaken can be categorised into three main areas: modular construction, tented structures and software.

